GARDEN 2023

DESIGN NATURE LIKE A PRO

The creation of the world. IT'S IN YOUR HANDS.

As humans we have been shapers since time immemorial. We clear forests and reforest new ones. We grow our food on a large scale, erect hedges for protection, pastures for livestock and parklands as recreational spaces and retreat zones. We are constantly changing our environment. We live with and from nature - and shape it with our own hands. They are our most important tool! Therefore their protection is essential.

Harvest what grows new. IT'S IN YOUR HANDS.

In recent years, more and more people have re-discovered the idea of creating with and from nature: urban gardening, active climate protection, organic boom or self-sufficiency are the keywords for a rapidly growing future and a lifestyle movement that needs one thing above all: professional quality and assistance.

Professional quality gardening gloves for the first time.

IT'S IN YOUR HANDS.

GEBOL, for decades THE glove professional in the field of work protection, now has used its know-how and its technological advantage to develop professional gardening gloves for the highest quality requirements. Whether wet or cold protection, equipment suitability or feel-good factor - special products have been developed for every working environment and every area of application - including "allrounder".

Clear orientation & garden expertise.

IT'S IN YOUR HANDS.

From Care & Cultivate to Forest & Frost, we developed five professional categories (see pages 4-5) whose color coding system provides an immediate overview and orientation. The individual products have botanical names, underlining our professional claim in the gardening/landscaping sector as well. A holistic concept - for higher sales in the green sector.

The future of all of us.

IT'S IN YOUR HANDS.

All of us help to shape our future world. We are clearing less and reforesting more. We grow more organically and make our cities greener for heat protection. We at GEBOL also make our contribution: we expanded our concept of upcycling in gloves with the new GEBOL Garden line. The world is a garden. Let's protect it together!

IT'S IN YOUR HANDS.
Let's reduce the plastic island!

Plastic waste is a problem.
Plastic waste in the sea is a huge problem.
The largest plastic island
floating in our oceans:
1.5 times the size of Europe!
Most of it: PET bottles.

Because it is in our hands
wheter we build or destroy, GEBOL launches
as the first European manufacturer
GEBOL UPCYCLED.

Each pair of these work gloves contains the plastic of up to three recycled PET-bottles.
It's the white thread.

The planet thanks you for your purchase!

THORNS & ROSES

ONCE MANKIND
LOST PARADISE.
YOU CREATE IT ANEW.

IT'S IN YOU

UR HANDS.

What makes a good rose/thorn glove?

The most important thing when pruning roses in the spring is a sturdy leather glove with cuff. This protects hands and forearms from the thorns; with maximum freedom of movement. Such a glove also provides perfect protection when pruning thorny and prickly plants or when working with cacti. It is also bite-resistant.

For pruning roses, cutting off the withered heads, a rose glove made of soft goatskin is perfect. But what is always helpful: an extended cuff as a good forearm protection.

What makes a good leather glove?

When it comes to gardening gloves, we have a high quality standard. A leather glove must be soft, comfortable to wear and kind to the skin. It is part of the basic equipment of every gardener.

What professionals particularly appreciate about a leather glove: Even if you cut all day, you won't get blisters.

A tip on how to properly dry leather gloves: leather is a natural material and should not be left wet or damp for too long. It is best to dry the gloves standing up at room temperature. Caution: The sun or the use of artificial heat sources such as heaters or dryers, make the leather hard.

IT'S IN YOUR HANDS.
